Real-world cattle to solve real problems on your ranch.

Kirk Duff of Duff Cattle Co., Hobart, OK, in his spring 2014 Power Plus sale catalog:

"After many sleepless nights over the last 20-plus years of using multiple registered Angus sires, I finally came to the realization that there had to be a better way to calve heifers. Just like many of you, in order to minimize the loss of baby calves out of first-calf heifers, I lived with them. I would move them in close to the barn and check them round the clock night and day and be plum worn out by the time calving season was over.

"Three years ago, I finally decided there had to be a better solution to this madness. So I began a search for the best low maintenance, easy calving Angus genetics available to use on my virgin heifers. After countless hours and many miles, we came across some quality Aberdeen Angus. Over the last three years, the result has been very satisfying. Here at Power Plus, we have calved over 200 head of virgin heifers bred to Aberdeen Angus bulls. Additionally, we have supplied hundreds of straws of semen, and we also leased out numerous Aberdeen Angus bulls to several of our long-time commercial customers in order to test the results over a larger number of cattle in multiple states.

A beautiful picture ... alive, unassisted, vigorous, 66# birth weight out of a fullblood Aberdeen bull.

ranged from 50 to 69 pounds. The calves are vigorous and grow very well. The two lines of Angus genetics are so distantly related, when mated together the result has added hybrid vigor.

"We have harvested over 100 head of the calves thus far. They have finished on 30% less feed and in considerably less days while also achieving a high percentage of Choice and Prime.

"How can you argue with that? Low birth, performance and tons of eye appeal."

Use Aberdeen genetics to help reduce labor and improve efficiency.

Stewie is a long bodied, good topped son of the fullblood Doctor Love and a brother to lot 93. If you have a group of heifers to breed, put these two brothers together and forget about pulling calves. He's a daughter of a very well bred cow.

Here's a powerful long aged double halfblood breeding bull from a Utah son and a great producing cow who happened to win Denver as a heifer calf from the Rick Lloyd herd. He will "git 'er done"!

Rex is a modest framed, well muscled red 5/8 Moderator out of a first calf heifer that will work extremely well on first calf heifers. He's deep, thick and easy fleshing to help you moderate your replacements.

Longmire is a spectacular March yearling Dawson son that carries the red gene. His dam is a fancy daughter of the many times champion Doll House Talk. He should be an exceptionally easy calver capable of siring show calves. A real dandy!

Do the math...

More cows on the same forage means more profit.

What are your biggest costs? Feed and labor?

Taking into account all of the variables Mother Nature throws at you, the key factor you can control is cow size. Getting cow size and stocking rate right has a huge impact on the bottom line. Smaller cows mean more cattle on the same forage base. Spreading your fixed costs over greater numbers and reducing variable costs per head improves net profit.

AmericanAberdeen.com

The average Angus cow weighs 1,400 lb. If you want to make replacement heifers that will mature as 1,100 lb cows—without sacrificing muscle and shape—there's only one way to get there.

★ AMERICAN ★ ABERDEEN ASSOCIATION

The American Aberdeen crossbreeding advantage:

- » Fix cow size in one generation
- » Reduce calving problems
- » Produce more ribeye per hundredweight
- » Increase marbling
- » Produce more gain per acre
- » Increase percentage of cow weight weaned

When evaluated on a per-acre unit of production, smaller cattle have a 10 percent advantage over larger cattle.
